Death Toll Placed at 100 Lives With Loss of a Score of Vessels—Dykes and Sea Walls Give Way to the Rush of Waters.

London, Nov. 27 (AP).—Floods today followed in the wake of a four-day gale which caused the loss of a score of vessels of substantial tonnage in western European waters and possibly took a toll of 100 lives.

From Belgium north to the Frisian Islands lowlands were flooded as the sea was driven in upon them by raging winds. Dykes and sea walls, buffeted by huge waves gave way to the rush of waters.

Police, soldiers and civilians were working frantically in Antwerp to repair broken dykes there and on the opposite side of the Scheldt. The city water and gas pipes were undermined. The suburbs were flooded. Railroad bridges were damaged and telephone and telegraph lines down. It was feared six persons had perished. A hole 60 yards in circumference and six yards deep was made in the Grand Palace at Antwerp.

At Ostend, Belgium, sea water inundated the ground floors of buildings.

The Flanders villages of Grembergen, Moorselle and Ternaone were evacuated as the sea rushed through a break twenty yards wide in the dykes.

A number of houses in the neighborhood of Rotterdam, Holland, also were abandoned. At Bergen-Op-Zoom, Holland, a 130-foot dyke broke with a tremendous crash letting in the sea.

Sylt Island, one of the Frisian group, was inundated and dwellers on it sought safety on the highest points. At Helgoland the sea wall was torn away. The river Elbe was backed up by the sea and low lying streets of Hamburg were flooded.

Rivers Become Raging Torrents.

Rivers in the Vosges hills were rising with alarming rapidity. The Moselle also was rising and tributaries of the Rhine were raging torrents. Houses along the banks of the Ruhr at Mulheim were evacuated and the shipping on the Saar was at a standstill.

Cuxhaven Roads, Germany was full of disabled shipping. One incoming vessel reported that it had sighted five wrecks in the North Sea. The liner Carinthia arriving at Liverpool, England, reported that it had picked up sixteen S O S calls, all of which were subsequently cancelled.

The French freighter Cesaree sank off Algiers and 15 of her crew of 19 were drowned. An Italian steamer believed to be the Salento, wrecked and all aboard were lost. The Norwegian steamer Michelsen was driven ashore and three members of the crew drowned. The British steamer Neath Abbey reported she was in a dangerous position off West Kapel.

The steamships Montenegro and Saleron were wrecked near Vigo, Spain, and three lives were lost. The freighter Arnauld-Mendi sank off San Sebastian, Spain. Her crew was rescued.

Liners Unable to Make Port

As the gale moved over the Mediterranean all liners from Algiers, Oran and Tunis which were due at Marseilles, France, cruised outside the shores, unable to make port. Two schooners were driven ashore near Milazzo, Sicily. Their crews were rescued.

The German schooner Pommern, which was left a derelict dangerous to navigation after all aboard had been rescued, was taken in tow. The losses to Great Britain alone, estimated at more than a million pounds. This included damage to property ashore, to shipping and life boat services and the damage resulting from suspension of transport. Calmer weather enabled the cross channel steamers to resume their regular services yesterday afternoon. Some of these had been suspended since Friday, since the vessels were unable to enter French ports.

Delinquent Real Estate Salesmen

Only About Half of Them Have Renewed Their State Licenses—Six Thousand Brokers Also Fail to Renew.

Albany, Nov. 27.—Only about 50 per cent of the real estate salesmen in New York state have renewed their licenses, which expired on October 31, according to a statement issued today by Alexander C. McNulty, chief of the licensing bureau in the Department of State. There are altogether too many salesmen they are compelled to have a new license and Mr. McNulty is now checking up the situation and planning to take action against the delinquents. Out of 18,639 real estate salesmen who were licensed last year, only 8,992 have renewed their licenses since November 1. Real estate brokers have been a bit more careful, although there are about 4,999 of these who are still doing business and without the necessary license, through having failed to renew the same.

The situation is rather serious and the delinquents are violating the real property law, and may be fined or imprisoned. At the same time these delinquents have no standing whatever in the courts in any action for a commission earned during the period when they were unlicensed.

No Effort to Get Passengers in Starboard Boats

New York, Nov. 27 (AP).—A member of the crew of the foundered steamer Vestris testified at the government's steamboat inspection inquiry today that no effort had been made to get passengers into the starboard lifeboats of the sinking liner.

The witness, Alfred Hansen, the assistant purser, who gained fame by taking pictures of the ship as it was sinking, said that three of the starboard boats, Nos. 3, 5, and 7, got away from the ship filled with members of the crew.

Hansen said that no effort was made to get women and children, most of whom perished with the sinking of the ship, out of lifeboats on the port side, although he testified it would have been easier to raise those boats back to the davits and put the women and children into the starboard boats than to force the port boats over the side of the ship with oars.

The assistant purser said that the women and children were in the port boats about an hour before the Vestris went down.

Alfred Duncan, second steward of the Vestris, said that if lines had been strung across the ship it might have been possible to put passengers into the starboard lifeboats. He said that he had tried to string such a line, but failed. In describing the launching of the starboard boats, he said they swung "way out" on the davits and that it would have been necessary to jump into the water first before boarding them.

"We are going to Stockholm and live where I have a flat," the count said on his arrival from Sweden with members of his wedding party. "I intend to have a radio, an electric refrigerator and a vacuum cleaner, just like all other folks have."

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 27 (AP).—Gloria Caruso, young daughter of the late Enrico Caruso, was today awarded two-thirds of the royalties, now estimated to approximate $1,000,000, from the reproduction of her father's voice on talking machine records.

By a decree of the Italian courts, Gloria was awarded one-half of the New Jersey estate.

The remaining one third of the estate was divided among Mrs. Dorothy P. B. Caruso, Giovanni Caruso, a brother of the late tenor; Enrico Caruso, Jr., and Rodolpho Caruso, two sons.

Fire Destroys Princeton School

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 27 (AP).—The John C. Green School of Science, a three-story stone structure and one of the oldest buildings of Princeton University, was destroyed by fire early today.

The flames of undetermined origin started shortly before midnight, fanned by a strong wind, it soon swept through the building. The loss was estimated at $200,000.

The destroyed building had been occupied until two weeks ago by the school of engineers, which moved to a new building. Since then it housed the offices of the departments of economics, politics and social institutions. It was erected in 1873 and its early abandonment had been planned.

The entire Princeton fire department was called and students volunteered and aided in fighting the flames and in saving equipment. Some of the laboratory equipment, manuscript and other belongings of the professors were saved but dense smoke prevented the removal of all the effects.

A deputy sheriff was immediately sent to Hazleton with instructions to bring the detective into court without delay so that the trial, already postponed three times, might proceed.

A Thanksgiving Game.

This is a good game to play just before dinner on Thanksgiving Day. Provide slips of paper and pencils for all. On the slips of paper have written the following list of questions, and as a prize allow the one who writes the correct answer after each question his or her choice of their favorite part of the turkey.

What part of the turkey is used every morning?

What part of the turkey appears on the battlefield?

What part usually comes after every battle to one side or the other?

What part is watched closely by the farmers?

What part is used to trim hats?

What part comes the day after the dinner?

What country surrounds Turkey in the oven?

How do you tell the age of a turkey?

What part of the turkey is a portion of a sentence?

What part of the turkey should we be thankful for?

Answers: Comb, drumsticks, defeat, (the feet), crop, wing, the bill, Greece, by your teeth, claws (claws), any part.

"Button, button, who's got the button?" chanted the teacher.

"The laundry," replied the sophisticated child.

If you want folks to like you don't correct them in their misuse of the English language.

Two can live as cheaply as one provided they are willing to live that cheaply.

As Cold as Money.

Horror! A banker, driving late at night, ran into a man, stopped, picked him up and discovered that he was the doctor who recently had treated his daughter. Hastily lifting the recumbent form into his car the banker raced for a hospital, where he was told that to save the doctors' life a blood transfusion was necessary. Remembering that he had not paid the good physician for attendance on his daughter, the banker, in a sudden mood of remorse and sympathy, offered his own blood to save the doctor's life.

But after the transfusion, the doctor froze to death.

Ethel: "And you think he'll love me even when we are married?"

Betty: "Oh, certainly! Why, he's just crazy about married women, my dear."

An absent-minded grocer called on his old friend, the family doctor, one evening. They chatted for a couple of hours, and as the grocer rose to go the doctor asked: "Family all well, I suppose?"

"Good heavens!" exclaimed his visitor, "that reminds me. My wife's in a fit."

Thanksgiving.

Let us give thanks to God upon Thanksgiving Day. Nature is beautiful and fellowmen are dear, and duty is close beside us, and God is over us and in us. We want to trust Him with a fuller trust, and so at last to come to that high life where we shall "be careful for nothing, but in everything, by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let our request be made known to God" for that, and that alone, is peace.

First housewife: I suppose you carry a memento of some sort in that pocket of yours?

Second ditto: "Yes, it is a lock of my husband's hair."

"But your husband is still alive."

"Yes, but his hair is gone."

"My girl got her nose broken in three places."

"That'll teach her to stay out of those places."

All things come to those who wait, but you won't have to wait so long if you tip liberally.

Santa Coming to See Boys and Girls

Will Be Guest of Downtown Business Men's Association—Boys and Girls May Write to Him in Care of That Organization.

Just three more days and December, the month when Santa Claus visits every good little girl and boy, will be here. Now is the time for every "kiddie," who expects a visit from Old St. Nick, to write to him and tell the jolly good fellow what toys and other things are wanted.

For those who do not know Santa's address, it is Santa Claus, care of the Downtown Business Men's Association. President Harry Kaplan of the organization recently received a letter from St. Nick and he stated that little boys and girls could send him their mail in care of the downtown merchants as they did last year. Every letter will be answered by Santa Claus who is now busy making a supply of toys for good children.

Santa will not wait until Christmas to visit his little friends. He is to be the guest of the Downtown Business Men's Association for several weeks previous to that great holiday and "kiddies" can visit him in the downtown section. He will take orders for toys and tell stories to the boys and girls who interview him.

The downtown merchants, too, will have presents for those who visit their business section at the holiday season. The usual large amount of candy will be given away to children this year on the day that Santa arrives. Of course St. Nick is too busy just now making toys to send a date for his arrival downtown, but promises that he will let his friends know through The Freeman when he will visit Kingston.

PHOENICIA FIREMEN SAVE HOTEL FROM DESTRUCTION

Phoenicia, Nov. 26.—Efficient work of the volunteer fire department and a number of local men saved the Phoenicia Hotel, owned by R. B. Longyear, from being razed by fire Tuesday morning. L. Gossio and Mr. Kilmer, who were shingling the roof of the Melster drug store, saw flames and smoke issuing from the hotel roof and put in an alarm. Carl Neice had the new fire apparatus at the hotel in record time and the volunteers began to fight the fire. It was a hard job. A lack of water caused air to get into the hose, which caused considerable trouble; the weather was cold enough to freeze the water which was on the roof, that made it slippery for the fire fighters; many of the men had wet clothing and flames were creeping around them as they chopped holes in the roof so that water could be put on the fire. D. Enlist rendered considerable aid by nailing a board on the roof so that the firemen could get a foothold. The village is very thankful to the fire fighters for their good work. The Schwarzwald Furniture Company sent its fire extinguishers for the use of the firemen.

Miss Verna Boice spent a few days visiting friends. The little daughter of G. Sweet has been ill.

Many from here attended the play, "Deacon Dubbs," which was given at Chichester Friday evening by the Port Ewen Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters. It was much enjoyed.

Meister's drug store has opened a doll contest for the children under 12 years.

Comfort
Comfort
Comfort

for the Whole Family

THERE are lots of things that bring peace and happiness into the household; and sometimes the greatest of these is the simple but perfect comfort that comes when Mother and Dad and the Children all wear Cantilever Shoes. That makes a happy family. Cantilever comfort is the result of designing shoes with consideration for the needs of the foot. They are good-looking shoes, finely made and durable, in models for Men, Women and Children. When all the feet in the house are well and comfortable, there's much more likely to be harmony in the household.

Voice with smile wins

JUST ask one of the telephone operators who serves you how she manages to maintain such unflinching courtesy at a big switchboard.

"It wasn't easy at first," she'll admit. "I found that a sedentary job indoors all day was almost too much for me. I realized that if I was going to make good on the job—and I loved it—I'd have to keep myself in the very pink of condition."

"I've done it with Nujol—nothing else. It's kept me from having headaches and colds and that awful let-down feeling. Kept my nerves from getting jangled and fatigued, too. My doctor tells me that Nujol isn't a medicine. It's simply a pure natural substance. It keeps your system functioning as nature meant it to, even under abnormal conditions. It not only prevents an excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal."

Nujol can't possibly hurt you or upset you. Get a bottle today. Perfected by the famous Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York. It's sold at all drugstores, in sealed packages only.

Parachute Jumper Here Two Days

The management of the Kingston Airways are once more going to give the aviation enthusiasts of Kingston a treat, for on Thursday and Sunday, weather permitting, they will have a parachute jumper at the local field. Eric Lindgren, veteran of hundreds of jumps, will perform. He is no stranger here, having jumped here several times in the past.

The officials of the local field will also have several passenger planes at the field to accommodate any who wish to fly, and for the convenience of the people who think the weather too severe to see Kingston from the air the manager will endeavor to have a large cabin plane here for these two days. With the preparations the local aviators have made, this event should be a real air circus for the people of Kingston and vicinity.

WARREN MADE TRIP IN PRIVATELY OWNED PLANE

The large monoplane which attracted so much attention in this city Sunday and in which Charles A. Warren, the local sporting goods dealer, flew to New York Monday, was a new Faulkner-Universal cabin plane, which was privately owned by a New York party. The management of the field will endeavor to have a plane of this type at the field Thursday and Sunday, when they have there a parachute jump, for the purpose of taking passengers on a flight over Kingston and vicinity.

CHRISTMAS GIFT OF RADIO TO HOSPITAL NURSES' HOME

The Auxiliary of the City of Kingston Hospital has recently placed a Brunswick radio and panatone in the assembly room of the nurses' home as a Christmas gift to the nurses. This was made possible through the courtesy of the Brunswick Phonograph Company in New York, which made a very generous contribution toward the purchase price as well as the agents here, Forsyth & Davis, who made a similar gift. Many individuals of the auxiliary and groups of women have volunteered to assist in the payment for the instrument which is the very latest model placed on the market by the Brunswick Company. The happiness which it is already affording the nurses is most gratifying to the auxiliary members.

Praying is more than saying one's prayers.

Orchard Information

RISKY TO PLANT TREES IN FALL

Reasonably Safe if Plants Are Properly Cared For.

Fruit trees are sometimes set in spring or in fall, but it is more risky to plant them in the fall, say fruit men at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y. They also say, however, that whether planting is done in spring or fall, trees should be ordered in the fall, for by ordering them for spring delivery, fruit growers are more likely to get from nurseries the exact varieties and ages of trees desired.

Fall planting may be practiced and is reasonably safe if the plants are well cared for and are mulched during the winter. Once in a while, however, weather conditions are unfavorable and many trees or berries that are planted in the fall die. For this reason spring planting under New York conditions is to be preferred year in and year out for all fruits.

One point that favors fall planting is that the air gets cool in autumn while the soil stays comparatively warm. This favors callus formation in the roots and helps the tree or plant get firmly seated in the soil.

Two drawbacks sometimes have to be reckoned; one is too much rain and the other is too little. If the soil is too wet, the trees may heave in the soil and break their roots. Heaving is worse on heavy, clay soils.

If there is too little water, the trees may die. These, of course, are chances every grower must take if he practices fall planting.

Start Deciduous Trees

With Green Manure Crop

In general practice, it is a good plan to start the deciduous orchard by growing a good green manure crop on the land the year previous to planting. This should then be followed by at least one such crop between the rows of trees every year thereafter, particularly while the orchard is young and the trees occupy less space. If this practice is followed, the fertility of the soil often can be maintained without resorting to the use of other fertilizers. The kind of crop used for this purpose and the season when it is grown depend a great deal upon the location and soil. Preference should be given leguminous crops, since they furnish both nitrogen and organic matter, unless, by the rank growth of the trees, it is seen that the continuous use of legumes is supplying too much nitrogen. This is sometimes possible in growing peaches in certain soils, and a change to rye or oats for a season is necessary. Cowpeas and tepary beans have been found most satisfactory as summer legumes, planted after the weather becomes warm. However, white sweet clover is gaining favor as a cover crop in our valley districts where a shade crop is desired through a part or all of the summer. Planted early in the spring, it makes a very rank growth by the middle of summer, when it should be cut or disked. In addition to furnishing a large quantity of vegetable matter, it is deep-rooted and, consequently, is a good crop for soils in general. It makes heavy soils more open and friable, and gives lighter soils greater water-holding capacity.

Orchardists Find That It Pays to Fertilize

Sulphate of ammonia will increase fruit yields, Wisconsin farmers are finding. According to C. L. Kuehner, fruit crop specialist of the Wisconsin Agricultural college, 29 Milwaukee county orchardists used last spring from 5 to 700 pounds of sulphate of ammonia on their fruit trees, having learned from past experience that in terms of increased yields the application is worth the time and expense of applying it.

The number of trees fertilized in each of these Milwaukee county fruit groves varies from 5 to 400. It is interesting to note, Kuehner says, that those who used the fertilizer in 1927, have increased the amount this season.

Spray ring outfits are also increasing rapidly among Wisconsin fruit growers. A spray ring is a group of orchardists who are co-operatively associated in the ownership of a fruit tree spraying machine, which is taken from one farm to another throughout a neighborhood, to fortify the trees against insect and other parasitic pests which destroy fruit and reduce its quality. There were 17 new spray ring organizations formed in Wisconsin last spring, bringing the total number now in operation up to 144.

Coding Moth Date

Apple growers will insure themselves against probable loss from wormy fruit during the coming season if they will keep in close touch with their state experiment stations to determine the actual date of coding moth emergence. The grower can establish breeding cages in his own orchard and determine the proper time to spray. When the date is actually known, the regular series of high pressure sprays applied at the customary intervals will insure a crop of worm-free apples.

Austria Will Publish Her Side of World War

Prague, Czechoslovakia.—To set the world clear on Austria-Hungary's part in the World War, the Austrian war department has decided to issue an official history of the war, in six large volumes, called "Austria-Hungary's Last War."

Historians, military experts and others are now completing the first volume and it will be put on the market before Christmas. The history will describe the country's part in the war from a strategic rather than from a political standpoint.

The heroism and self-sacrifice of Austria-Hungarian soldiers and officers on all fronts will be featured. America's entry into the war, which spelled the end of Austria-Hungarian effort, will be treated in a special chapter.

Trust Company's Banking House Has New Features

Handsome New Home of Kingston Trust Company Arranged for Convenience of Employees and Customers—Visitors Find Many Interesting Things—A Model Banking Institution.

A visit to the new banking building of the Kingston Trust Company at Main and Fair streets, where the trust company transacted business on Monday after a temporary absence of many months during which time the old building was completely remodelled and enlarged, well repays the visitor, who finds many features which are enjoyed by comparatively few banks.

On entering the bank from the main entrance on Main street access to the building is by means of a vestibule opening off from the street. The floor level of the bank has been dropped to practically street level, and after passing through the vestibule one comes into the main lobby of the bank. There is an air of spaciousness immediately on entering, the ceiling is high and there is plenty of light from the numerous side windows and from the skylight over the entrance. To the right of the entrance are the working cages for the employees and at the left is the telephone and information booth. To the left are the offices of the bank officials.

All of the woodwork throughout the building is of American walnut made at Chichester by William Schwarzwalder & Co., Inc. The floor is of tile with brass inlaid strips and throughout the first floor the supporting columns are of French hane-stone. The ceiling panels are done in an ivory which takes advantage of the natural lighting which is of the modern indirect type.

Christmas Club and Interest Departments.

To the right of the entrance is the Christmas Club and bookkeeping cage where Christmas Club accounts are kept and where anyone desiring a statement or balance may view the bookkeeping department. The entire bookkeeping department is located at the rear of the first cage entirely separated from the banking room by means of a glass partition which while permitting the bookkeepers to be in plain view of the employees in the cages still keeps the noise of the department from the banking floor. All of the bookkeeping is done by machines, the Burroughs system of electrically operated machines is used. These machines in their operation are positive and almost human.

Next the interest department cage is located and to the rear of this cage are located the three teller cages. At the extreme rear is located the discount cage where the paper work is cared for. Each of the cages is partitioned off from the adjoining cage by a screen and at the rear is a door which is closed and locked once the teller takes his position in the cage. Windows are provided for inter-communication between cages.

Night Depository for Merchants.

On the right of the entrance is also located the night depository of the bank. This feature is for the convenience of merchants who desire to make deposits after banking hours. Each merchant who has business with the bank is provided with a key and on opening the deposit door deposits his sack of money securely locked. The door once closed deposits the sack in the thick concrete vault and it is impossible to again open the door until the sack has been deposited in this vault. Each morning the money is taken from the depository and deposited. This feature is a great convenience to patrons who keep their stores open after banking hours and who frequently have large sums of money. Saturday nights this feature will be appreciated by merchants who instead of keeping a large amount of cash in the store safe may deposit it in the bank vault.

At the left of the entrance is located the telephone exchange and information booth. This department is behind a marble rail and in full view of the employees. At the front of the information and telephone booth is located the public ladies' rest rooms and lavatory.

Private Offices for Officials.

Beyond the information booth is the private office of Arthur A. Davis, secretary and treasurer of the company. This room is finished in walnut and provides a place where Mr. Davis may conduct his business and interview customers who desire to conduct confidential business with bank.

Adjoining the office of Mr. Davis is a very similar office which will be occupied by Philip Elting, president of the bank, or by William H. Van Etten, first vice president. At the rear of the president's office is located the coupon booths and a larger room which may be used for conferences or in the settlement of estates where several persons need to get together and confer.

The coupon rooms are a very cleverly devised idea. Five in number, the rooms are equipped with a new device for the protection of the patrons. On securing a safe deposit box from the custodian the customer is admitted to one of the coupon rooms by the attendant. On entering the booth the door is closed and locked. It is impossible to open the door from the outside without the aid of a key but the door is readily opened from within. On admitting a customer to a booth the attendant throws a signal which denotes the booth is in use. When the customer leaves the booth the door automatically closes and a signal on the door indicates that the booth has been used but is now empty. The door cannot be opened except with a key. This is to provide a safeguard for the customer who by chance might have left some valuable in the booth. The booth after being unlocked and inspected by the attendant is then made ready for the next customer. When a booth is ready to be again used there is a clever device on the door which holds the door open a couple of inches, thus indicating the booth is ready for use.

Vault and Safe Deposit Boxes.

At the rear of the bank divided from the main lobby by a steel grill is the vault. The main vault is 29 by 22 feet in size and will be used for currency, books and the bank property as well as the safe deposit boxes. In one corner is a steel grill within which is the bank property, currency and securities. The safe deposit boxes, 1,200 in number, are divided with the double locking device which makes it necessary for the bank official to unlock one lock with the bank key and the second lock is opened by the box holder. This gives a double protection and assures the box holder of privacy. The boxes range in various sizes from the small $3 ones to large $30 boxes.

The vault is protected by one of the most sensitive burglar alarms in existence. The alarm is known as the O. B. McClintock system and is so sensitive that a blow on the side of the vault at any place will set it in motion. This is particularly true at night or when the vault is closed. The air within the vault becomes heavy and dead and the slightest motion in the air will then set off the alarm. A sudden change in temperature, a blow with a hammer or a drill will set off the system. So sensitive is the system that a sudden clasp of hands inside the vault will put it in operation. As a precaution against being locked out by reason of the time lock going bad there is an emergency entrance to the vault. This also acts as a ventilator.

After the vault door is opened for the day, should there be a hold-up at the bank and the burglars attempt to lock the employees in the vault they will find that it can't be done. The vault door will only close to a certain distance and then remain open an inch or two, thus providing air and also a means of sending out a warning. In such an event the vault door cannot be opened or closed but those inside the vault are provided with sufficient air to prevent suffocation.

Under the main vault is a storage vault 20 by 22 for the storage of bulky valuables, silver, paintings or any valuable which may be taken in for safe keeping. Both vaults are of the latest type, fire and burglar-proof.

Heating and Ventilation System.

Heating throughout the building is from enclosed radiators. Through openings at the top the heat is given out and cold air enters through an opening on the floor, combining ventilation as well as heating.

At the right of the entrance vestibule is a consultation room where conferences may be held. It is off this room that the entrance to the night deposit vaults is located.

To the rear of the tellers' cages is located a long corridor with a desk where ledgers and other books may be kept.

Each morning at the opening of business the currency and papers which are placed in the safe overnight are wheeled from the vault in small trucks to the tellers' cages where they are kept until the close of business and again run back into the vault. This does away with the necessity of frequent trips to the vault and provides the tellers with a place where currency may be kept safely in order during business hours.

At the rear of the cages is located the desk of Gordon A. Craig, assistant treasurer, and there business which cannot be transacted at the windows will be attended to.

Portrait of Bank's Founder.

Alongside the vault hangs an oil painting of the original bank which was painted before there were any houses on Main street. A portrait of Gen. Joseph Smith, founder of the bank and the man who built the first bank on the site in 1806, is also hung on the wall of the working space back of the tellers.

Two lavatories for men are located at one side of the vault and in the basement is located a rest room for employees. This room is fitted out with comfortable chairs and will be used by employees only.

All of the work on the safe was done by the York State and Local Company of New York and the fittings are of the latest type.

On the upper floor is located the directors' room. This room is probably the finest room of its kind. Noting the length of the new addition over the vault the room is finished in American walnut paneling up to the ceiling. All of this work was done by the Schwarzwalder Company and is one of the finest pieces of work ever turned out by that company which specializes in banking fixtures. In the center of the room is a long directors' table of the same material and the room is supplied with large comfortable chairs. The floor is covered with a tile effect composition floor covering. Lighting is by the indirect lighting system and to the east in the center of the wall is a large fireplace and mantel. Over the mantel is hung a portrait of Philip Elting, president of the bank, and on the opposite wall is a portrait of Reuben Bernard, president of the Kingston National Bank from 1877 until the time of his death. The Kingston Trust Company is the successor to the Kingston National Bank.

Offices for Bank's Attorney.

Also located on the upper floor are offices which will be occupied by John W. Eckert, trust officer and bank attorney. Mr. Eckert will move his offices to the Trust Company building as soon as the decoration of the room is completed. There is a waiting room for clients, a private office which Mr. Eckert will occupy and also an office for his stenographers. The front of the building will be occupied by his law library. There are also two additional offices to the east which are being fitted out.

Zinna Fights in New York Tonight

Nick Zinna, after training up for a week at the National Guard gym in the armory, left this morning for New York city, where he is scheduled to meet Ted Karakos in the eight-round semi-final attraction at the 22nd Engineers' Armory.

This scrapper, who has pleased Kingston and Newburgh audiences, is expected to punch his way to prominence in National Guard boxing circles on his trip to Karakos in his New York debut tonight.

Zinna likely will be slated for the main go at the next Kingston boxing card on December 10. He is booked by Captain E. C. Lawson for the coming show, the six drill shed will be crowded to capacity. It is contended, for he has proven himself popular with local fans. His last Kingston fight was not only a pleasing one to a large gathering of spectators but a glorious victory for Zinna. He beat Irish Joe Haley of Newburgh, classed as the cleverest and smartest Hudson valley scrapper.

Leave football rules alone, says Hawley.

Chicago, Nov. 27 (AP).—Jess Hawley, Dartmouth College coach, believes the present football rules are so good they should not be altered. "Leave the rules alone," Hawley said. "They are fine as they are, both from the spectators' angle and that of the players and the coaches. And above all, let's keep working in the game. There's little enough now. Changes should be made only when we know they will be of value. We can't afford to have guessed."

Burroughs' Friend To Lecture Here

To the Editor of The Freeman.

As one who knows James L. Burroughs, who was in close touch with him, I am sure that the high school students of Kingston will find his lecture on "The Magic of the Hills" a most interesting and profitable one. Burroughs was a naturalist of note, and his lecture was written into his essays his great love of the outdoors. For many years a professor of English in Boston University, he has proved an inspiration to hundreds of his students. As a lecturer he has achieved an enviable reputation throughout the country. Anyone who has heard him will bear witness to the charm of his personality, his sparkling wit, delightful humor, his deep human sympathy, and wholesome philosophy of life. His subject on December 11 is "The Magic of the Hills." Whatever the magical chance may be, the audience may be assured that the lecture will be neither commonplace nor conventional, but will present a fresh viewpoint on life in an original and delightfully entertaining way.

The College Women's Club is to be congratulated on bringing to Kingston a speaker who has such a wide claim to distinction as well as on the subject for which the lecture is to be given, the establishment of a scholarship fund with which to assist some worthy young person to get a college education.

Fertilizers Pay Well on Pastures

Cows Carried Nine Days Longer During Season on Treated Soil.

Permanent pastures that receive regular fertilizer treatments carry cows nine days longer during the season than do untreated pastures, according to a recent survey covering all the important dairy sections of New Jersey, made by the agricultural experiment station in co-operation with the bureau of statistics and inspection of the state department of agriculture. It was found that while the feed units per day yielded by the treated and untreated pastures were alike, because of the longer season each acre of the fertilized pasture yielded 36, or 5.4 per cent, more feed units than did an acre of untreated pastures.

Of the 264 pastures surveyed, which were chiefly in Salem, Cumberland, Burlington, Mercer, Hunterdon, Somerset, Warren, and Sussex counties, only about 50 were receiving fairly definite or regular fertilizer treatments. A study of 56 of the treated pastures compared with 32 untreated pastures on similar soils, showed that a considerable number of the pastures received more than one kind of treatment. Thirty-three of the treated pastures received lime; 21 commercial fertilizer, and 40 manure. The principal commercial fertilizers used were superphosphate (acid phosphate), bone meal, ammonium sulphate, and sodium nitrate.

The survey showed further that about 77 per cent of all farm land in New Jersey is occupied by permanent pastures. This is about one-third as much as there is in all crops combined. The feed obtained from this permanent pasture land furnishes practically all the roughage and takes the place of a small amount of concentrates in the dairy cow's summer ration.

Guineas Eat Quantities of Bugs and Weed Seed

We have had a small flock of guineas for years. The hens are great layers from March till August, and produce an astonishing number of eggs, says a writer in the Farm Journal. These must be removed from the nests before the birds think of sitting.

Guineas are very prolific; a female will often lay a nestful of 30 eggs before she thinks of sitting on them. A guinea egg is a little smaller than a good-sized hen's egg.

Guineas are harder than hens and can take care of themselves pretty well from babyhood. The young birds, as soon as they weigh about three-fourths of a pound, make fine "fries."

The guinea fowls are great insect eaters. They travel far afield in an entirely different area from that chosen by the ordinary fowls. All season these rambles and their numerous progeny gorge themselves with insect pests and weed seeds and great quantities of green food, all of which help to give a fine yellow color to the yolk of the egg.

Grain for Calves

Suckling calves intended for baby beef will begin eating grain when they are four or five weeks old. Experience has shown that a mixture of shelled corn and oats with bran added in some cases puts cheap gains on the calves and makes them easier to wean. Grain can be fed most conveniently in self-feeders placed inside a small pen or creep with openings large enough to admit the calves but too small for the cows to pass through.

At the study-club meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the library, Mrs. C. C. Ward, the secretary, declared Mr. Bennett's lecture on the History of the Drama had given the club a start-off of interest and inspiration for this year's work.

"Their not to reason why" is no longer true of the feminine contingent. Out of the supposed to be frivolous drama can emerge the most serious discussion of social subjects. Chapters of this fraternity are found in most of the normal schools of the state. The charter members of the local chapter are: Margaret McGillicuddy, Katherine Reid, Doris Summers, Dorothy Reinemann, Edna Steen, Cynthia Clark, Marion Lappine, Helen Parrott, Audrey Tompkins and Walter Taylor.

The Normal School orchestra, under the leadership of Miss Harding, gave its first concert of the year one afternoon last week in the auditorium. The entire grade school attended. Other concerts will be given in the future.

The members of the Normal Outing Club started 6:30 Saturday night on a moonlight hike to Mohonk.

France, Italy and Greece of Today

Conditions in Three European Countries as Seen by St. Stephen's College Professor Described in Lecture Before Monday Club.

Dr. J. E. Harry of St. Stephen's College had an imposing subject presented to him for discussion as the lecturer before the Monday Club and associate members on Monday afternoon in the chapel of the First Reformed Church, his topic being "France, Italy and Greece of Today." Not only was the subject extensive but the time was very short—only one hour—yet the speaker gave to it a dramatic, human touch that was entirely different from the previous lectures and very appealing. Said he, "Uncle Sam has gold, gold, gold to buy with, gold to loan; gold to give where there is dire need, France has no gold."

Dr. Harry has lived for some time since the war in France, which he found "bled white," by the war. Yet he summed up the one outstanding good of that war to be immense social progress. The speaker told of the recovery that France is making, described the governmental system, calling attention to the fact that their changes of cabinets made for greater efficiency. France he counted to be a highly centralized state with its representative mayors of 36,000 communes or towns and cities not including Paris. In France religion has been removed from the domain of the state to that of the private conscience. Peace that is righteous and honorable is intensely longed for, but France feels keenly the need of an adequate army and navy to prevent it from attack. Its administrative courts are ahead of those of the United States.

In speaking of Italy, Dr. Harry dwelt at considerable length on the Fascist movement and Mussolini, reminding his hearers of the latter's absolute right-about-face in his attitude, now repudiating the republicanism that he at first advocated. Of mediocre culture and medium experience, the speaker considered Mussolini exceedingly clever and successful, possessed of a rare ability to slip out of a tight corner with ease and elegance. In 1925 a reaction against Fascism set in and is still in progress, and today there is much of suspicion and distrust of it. Dr. Harry said that freedom in Europe is not safe, and there is grave danger in Italy unless a gentler wisdom and wiser guidance arises in time to save it from ultimate tragedy. "Liberty there is none in Italy."

Today the oath of allegiance to Mussolini is the same as that formerly taken by the Roman soldier to the dictator. Italy is free from communism, but according to the speaker it remains to be seen whether genius or ambition will rule.

There was time for but a brief sketch of Greece, but Dr. Harry was earnest in his tribute to that land of culture. "The whole world owes a great debt to ancient Greece—to ancient Athens—for their great ideas." The speaker felt that only by holding on to such ideals of beauty and the nobler things of life could we make civilization possible in this machine age. In fact he felt that we must have the sense and use our brains to live with it, not be dominated by it. Then he closed with a most dramatic, inspiring and appealing quotation from Sidney Lanier's "Symphony."

Next Monday the subject of the lecture will be "The Modern Situation as Revealed in Literature," and the lecturer will be Associate Professor E. N. Voorhees of the Department of English.

JUNIOR RALLY AND NUTTING PARTY AT TRINITY CHURCH

The junior rally and nutting party held in the Sunday school room of Trinity M. E. Church on Saturday last proved to be a great success. About forty members and friends of the junior organization connected with the Home Missionary Society of Trinity Church beside several of the mothers of the children were present. The meeting was called to order by the superintendent of the junior department. After a short devotional period, he told of the work of the junior organizations of the Methodist Churches, of the splendid work that has been accomplished, that of building homes for orphan children. Special attention was called to the work to be done this year, the erection of a hospital in connection with the "Jesse Lee Home" at Seward, Alaska, and also the "Baby Fold" to be built in connection with "Mother's Jewel" Home at York, Nebraska. After the business session had closed games were played and nuts gathered, which had been scattered in leaves which covered the floor of one of the rooms. This proved to be great sport. Delicious refreshments were then served. It proved to be the birthday of one of the younger members, Harry Broadhead, Jr., aged two years. Mrs. Broadhead had brought his birthday cake with the two tiny candles on it, so that all might enjoy it with Harry. All hoped for Baby Broadhead a very happy year. At 4:30 the children left for their homes with hearts filled with love for the great missionary work.

Sunday School
Seniors Start Wed.With its teams on the schedule, the Senior Sunday School Basketball League, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., is in full bloom, and the first brace of games will be played Wednesday of this week. Teams scheduled to meet beginning with the opening of the league
are Trinity and Woodstock, 8 o'clock;
Port Ewen and Woodstock, 8 o'clock;
and Clinton Avenue M. E. and
St. James at 10 o'clock.Another set of games in the Sunday School League, which will be run over a period of 15 weeks, will be played Saturday at the "Y" as follows: St. John's and Albany Avenue
Baptists, 7 o'clock, and Congregationalists and Comforters at 9 o'clock.
Previous to the Sunday School
League, the Y's Men will clash with the Woodstock team. The league court arguments will be interrupted by the Chandler-Springfield
Y. M. C. A. game at 8 o'clock. This is expected to be the feature of the evening as the Kingston boys are anxious to put one over on the strong Massachusetts courtiers.

Real Good in Life

For myself I am certain that the good of human life cannot lie in the possession of things which for one man to possess is for the rest to lose,
but rather in things which all can possess alike, and where one man's wealth promotes his neighbors' spiritual.Farm Bureau Membership 715The Farm Bureau membership is rapidly increasing every day. A total of seven hundred and fifteen was reached today. This is only 235 behind the goal total of 1928.
This is indeed a record for which supporters of the Farm Bureau can be proud. The past season has been very discouraging, nevertheless farmers come through and support their organization.An attempt is being made to equal the 1928 total by the annual meeting on December 5. Many have promised to send in and will send in their dues. These men are requested to send them in immediately to help achieve the goal.
Canvassers are busy this week in many communities. The Marlborough record of 69 members in three days including 25 new names, still stands. Apparently no other community will approach the record
this year. Marlborough now has 102 members with good prospects for 20 more. At present the next highest is Milton with 64 and Kingston third with 59. The Kingston membership consists primarily of business men who support the Farm Bureau as an institution which helps the rural people. In turn it helps the city.
Cities cannot long prosper without a prosperous agriculture. For 1928
there were 81 members in Kingston.
No doubt this total will again be reached before the end of the year.ST. PAUL LUTHERAN SUNDAY o'clock any evening.

Two games slated for the Excelsiors this week are tilts with Hercules Powder Company quintet and a Club. The latter game will be played Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Next week Port Ewen M. E. five will do battle against the Excelsiors, who will take on the fast stepping Chandlers that week.CHANDLERS MIX IT TONIGHT AT FLEISCHMANN'SThe Chandler basketball team will travel to Fleischmanns tonight to take a crack at the much heralded quintet of that village. The automobile team realized that the mountaineers will be no cinch and will proceed in a cautious manner. The regular Chandler lineup will leave the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 6:30 and Coach Frank N. Hinds requests that every one of his men be ready to leave promptly.Cleaning Laces

SANDMAN
STORY

ABOUT MOTHER OCEAN

"I LIKE all great creatures," said
Mother Ocean. "I have my friends and I also have many enemies."
Billie Brownie smiled at himself, and yet no one in the world could help but say that Mother Ocean was certainly great."You see, there is a lot to me," said Mother Ocean. "Now, when there is a lot to a person it means that that person has character and brains and all that sort of thing.""But when I say that there is a lot to me I mean not only such things, I mean there is a great deal of size to me.""Perhaps I shouldn't say it in just that fashion. But I'm not fussy about how I speak. I am too powerful to mind.""Why, I have had people traveling upon me and they have talked most"I Am Too Powerful to Mind," said Mother Nature."beautifully. They have used fine words and they have talked really very grandly.""But that didn't bother me. I let them know that I was superior to that.
So I have tossed and rocked and have told the Wave children to have as rough a party as they wished and then it was more than the fine talkers could do to keep up such grand talk.""They just didn't say anything, except:

"Oh, dear, but I feel poorly."

"And there is nothing very brainy about that.""Well, as I was saying, I have my friends and my enemies. My Wave children are my family, so I'm not speaking of them.""They love me! Just think what it means to have a mother who lets you

be just as rough as ever you wish.

Ha, ha, that's something!"

"Of course, some might not think so, but I do.""I want to tell you about my friends
now, though.""A little girl was going sailing with her brother in one of my bays. She was talking to an old, old naval gentleman.""I hope it doesn't get too rough,"
she said. "But I also hope it doesn't get too calm.""I don't care to be becalmed and sit out doing nothing on the water for hours at a time.""I suppose not," the old naval gentleman said, "but do you know I have lived almost all of my long life at sea and I have never been bored with the sea for a moment?""I've always loved it better than anything else in the world—no matter how it is.""Now, that old gentleman, Billie Brownie, I consider one of my friends.""And well you might," said Billie Brownie."Then," continued Mother Ocean, "I must tell you of the men who arrived at a little seaport town some few days ago.""They had been on a long, long ocean journey. They had come from the Far East.""And they had arrived, at last, on land.""But, Billie Brownie, how do you think they spent their holiday and rest-time?"Billie Brownie shook his head.
"They came down and watched me," Mother Ocean said. "They watched me by the hour as though they couldn't see too much of me.""They walked along by the beach and they watched me in the early morning and at nightfall and every moment they could.""They had been seeing practically nothing but the ocean for weeks, and yet when they were on land the land
did not arouse that affection in them that I did.""Oh, it was most interesting to see how they loved me.""And now, Billie Brownie, I don't think I'll tell you about any who don't like me, or any of my enemies this time.""I feel too happy to do that. Much too happy, Billie Brownie."And Billie Brownie understood.
So with a wave of his cap he went back to Brownie and Fairland to tell them about Mother Ocean's friends and great admirers.

FOR THE GOOSE—

A MAN'll forgive a woman for giv-
in' him up, if she can on'y convince him it's because she's afraid of him.But when a man tells a woman he's afraid of her, even if she'd like to believe it, she knows it's apple sauce.The best laundress in the world couldn't make a livin' in a country where the people go around naked.

FOR THE GANDER—

By refusin' to loan him money you might lose a friend forever. But relations ain't that easy.A man whose actions'll stand any searchlight don't have to be as careful about pickin' his words.No matter how careful it's built, a bridge is no use if it's shorter than the stream.Don't think just because Jonah did

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SALT AND SORROW

MANY people that believe it brings ill luck to a person to help him to salt. The old saying "Help me to salt; help me to sorrow," embodies the superstition. "Some people do not like even to put salt upon another person's plate, considering it equivalent to wishing one's neighbor misfortune," says Dyer. This superstition has received considerable attention from writers upon folklore and it is one which prevails widely, both in this country and in Europe. The most plausible explanation given of its origin is that it comes from a custom of the ancients of using salt to sacrifices. Salt was considered as incorruptible and it was sprinkled upon the head of the victim about to be sacrificed, doubtless with the idea of making the sacrifice more acceptable to the gods. Human sacrifice, we must remember was exceedingly prevalent among our forebears upon this earth.Therefore when we help our neighbor at table to salt we dedicate him, as it were, to sacrifice—which would be unpleasant for our neighbor.Though human sacrifice has long ceased, yet the significance of the act of helping to salt continues as a popular superstition.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—The

main price tendency in today's stock market was again upward although the market developed more irregularity than in most recent sessions,

due to a rather general desire to take profits before the Thanksgiving

Day holiday. Copper and railroad shares were in the forefront of the advance, with a sprinkling of high-priced specialties marked up 5 to 12

points by pool operators.

Banks called $40,000,000 in loans, presumably to meet holiday and month-end demands, and the call

money rate advanced from 7 to 7 1/2 and then to 8 per cent. Time money was steady. The quick sale of the $55,000,000 issue of New York corporate stock offered earlier in the week was generally accepted as evidence of underlying ease in the credit situation.

There was nothing in the day's news to explain the renewed accumulations of copper stocks although the belief persists in some quarters

that a further advance in red metal prices is likely before the end of the year. Anaconda touched 115 for the first time and American Smelting and Refining touched 110.

Kennecott, Greene Cananea, and

S. Smelting moved up 3 to 4 points.

The last named also touching a new high. International Nickel ran up

12 points to a new peak at 22 1/2.

Railroad equipments, which have taken relatively little part in the recent upswing, moved forward on expectations of heavily increased railroad buying next year. Union Tank

Car ran up 8 points, Lima Locomotive 4 1/2 and General American Tank

Car crossed 92 to a new high.

Ingersoll Rand, which is expected to profit from the expected demand for road and dike construction machinery in connection with the Mississippi river reclamation project,

soared 10 points to a new high at

120. Eisenlohr, in which the Schulte interests recently acquired a large interest, ran up 9 points to a new top at 62. Electric Auto Lite extended its gain to 8 1/2 points by touching 120 1/2, and Rossia Insurance to 7 points by touching 259 1/2,

all new high records.

Among the many other industrial and railroad issues to sell at the year's best prices were American

Metals, American International,

Musicians' Union Plan Big Dance

The Musicians' Union of Kingston is planning for a big dance at the Armory on Wednesday evening, January 16. This first affair to be put on by the Musicians' Union will be novel in that all of the musical organizations will participate in the furnishing of the music for dancing. Arrangements are being made by the committee and thus far the plans call for a big concert from 8 until 9 o'clock. This big opening concert will be participated in by a band of from 35 to 40 musicians and standard and classical music will be featured.

Following the band concert and commencing at 9 o'clock there will be continuous music supplied by six ten-piece orchestras. All of the musical organizations in the union will participate in the supplying of music with the various orchestras alternating. In all over 100 musicians will take part in this big jazz orchestra program. While one organization is playing the others will have an opportunity to enjoy the dance and attend to the refreshment booths.

The proceeds of the dance will go to the union building fund.

CANTATA SUNDAY NIGHT AT FIRST REFORMED CHURCH.

Next Sunday evening at the First Reformed Church, Gaul's sacred cantata, "Ruth," will be sung by the augmented choir of the church under the direction of W. Whiting Fredenburg, organist. This cantata while not so well known as the "Holy City" by the same composer, is one of his most melodious works and has been sung in many of the important churches of the country. Being new to this city it should provide a most interesting and enjoyable service.

LIVE STOCK

PERFECT WEIGHT FOR MARKET HOG

Ask the packer and he'll probably say that around 200 pounds is the ideal weight for a market hog.

J. W. Walcott, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the Ohio State university, reports this in a new 46-page bulletin, "Pork Production in Ohio," recently out of the press at Columbus, and available for distribution.

A survey of Ohio packers has shown that almost 54 per cent of the hogs desired ranged in weight from 180 to 240 pounds, and more than 40 per cent are wanted between the weight of 180 and 220 pounds. This would indicate that the most desirable weight from the packer's standpoint is the hog weighing close to 200 pounds. This is probably the most desirable weight at which to market from the standpoint of the producer as well as the packer.

Hogs marketed at weights much less than 200 pounds have in most cases more per pound of gain because of the higher price feeds necessary for the early development, so that the cost of bringing the pig up to weaning is distributed over a less number of pounds. On the other hand, to carry them much above 200 pounds will increase the cost per pound of gain, because as the hog gets larger and particularly as he approaches maturity, it requires more feed to put on each additional pound of gain.

"Complaint is sometimes made that the packers do not seem to buy many of the hogs from the territory adjacent to the packing house, but prefer to buy them elsewhere. The answer almost invariably is that the hogs being produced in that territory are not of the kind the packer can use to best advantage, and he is, therefore, forced to seek elsewhere for his supply."

"A little inquiry or study on the part of the producer to ascertain the demands of the local packer, and then meet them, will generally result in a more satisfactory sale and purchase of hogs locally. To make a long story short, produce what the market wants and there will be little trouble in finding a satisfactory market."

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 27.—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—As a result of yesterday's cold snap, all of the unmet cauliflower remaining in the fields of Long Island was frozen. Supplies this morning were accordingly very limited and prices advanced fully $1.00 per crate. Prices today were from $2.50-$4.00 per crate on the best offerings.

The demand for upstate New York cabbage was moderately active and in consequence the market held firm at about unchanged values. Bulk white Danish peddled out at $15.00-$50.00 per ton, occasionally higher, and red at $60.00-$65.00.

Of the eighty carloads of cabbage received on this market during the preceding week, New York state contributed 71.

Price changes on Western New York celery were small and unimportant. The demand was moderate and the market closed steady. The very best stock in the rough realized $3.25-$3.75, occasionally $4.00 per two-thirds crate. Ordinary to fair quality offerings brought $2.00-$3.00.

Celery holdings in the principal storage in the western part of the state on November 23 amounted to 383,835 crates, as against 613,435 on the same date last season.

Arrivals of Florida lettuce and Romaine continued limited. Fancy stock was in demand but poor received scant attention. Big Boston lettuce packed in one and one-half bushel baskets jobbed out at $1.50-$2.50. Romaine in similar packages brought $1.25-$2.00.

THANKSGIVING DANCE AT STONE RIDGE FOR PUBLIC.

Members of the Farm Bureau are planning for a big time Thanksgiving night at Stone Ridge Grand Hall when they will hold another of their popular community dances. On account of the large size of the Stone Ridge Hall the Farm Bureau extends an invitation to the public to attend this dance. Zucca's orchestra will furnish music. These dances have been held at various communities during the fall season but on account of limited facilities the dances thus far held have been for members of the Farm Bureau and their friends. The Thanksgiving night dance at Stone Ridge will be open to the public and an invitation is extended to all to attend.
